

Got a Communication Aid, Now What?

Find out with this two-part practical online workshop

Develop a practical plan with interactive strategies to support the use of comprehensive communication aids such as multi-level communication books and electronic aids and apps.

Who should attend

This workshop is relevant to any person:

- New to the area of Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC)
- Who manages a caseload of current and potential AAC users
- Learning to embrace a comprehensive AAC system
- Who is a member of an AAC user's support network, and would like to learn ways to support AAC use.

What the workshop covers

- The different types of communication aids and their purposes
- How use comprehensive communication aids effectively
- Goal-setting for improved AAC use
- Planning for sustained AAC.

Delivered online

This workshop consists of two sessions, each is 1.5 hours. The two sessions are two weeks apart.

Requirements

Complete two tasks in between the first and second workshop and share with the group. Tasks involve:

- Trialling the communication aid with an AAC user
- Setting a communication goal that utilises AAC strategies.

Access to technology to attend the workshop via video conference (Zoom) is required to attend the workshop.

Additional offer

Participants can access a 1:1 consultation with the workshop facilitator, Liz Weston, within six months of accessing the workshop.

Each participant may receive a 10% discount on any communication aid purchased through NECAS (Scope's Non-electronic Communication Aid Service).

Dates:

Part 1: 10am-12:30pm Tuesday 11th October

Part 2: 10am-12:30pm Tuesday 25th October

Registration: www.agosci.org.au/OnlineEvents

Contact us today for more information.

Phone: 1300 4 72673

Email: contact@scopeaust.org.au

Website: scopeaust.org.au

